Memorial Hospital To Get $2 Million Updating

Trustess of Memorial haspital have approved a $1,900,430 construction program to improve services and safety at the St. Joseph institution, it was amounced today by Lester C. Tiscornia.

Most of what we are doing has been mandated by either state or federal law, or by the need to modernize or expand services. Tiscornia said. "We have no choice but to proceed if we want to continue operations

"However," he added; "there is an ancillary advantage to all this that becomes a decided plus Completion of these changes will not only answer immediate requirements but also put us in excellent position to accomodate any or all of several types of expansion that may come along in the next few years; new services, an attached declars building, nicken medicine, or more

Principal project and by far the most expensive part of the

on program is erection of a new boiler house and installation of three new bodiers. Cost will be $1,279,100.

Tiscornia said that the hospital's present boilers are 25 years. old and in need of replacement. But they are housed under occupied portions of the hospital. This is now prohibited by state law, although it was legal when the first section of the hospital was erected 25 years ago.

Law requires that when new bollers are installed, they have to be placed entirely outside occupied portions of schools or hospitals. The new bollers will more than double steam capacity.

A detached brick chimney, matching the brick of the present hospital; will be erected at a cost of $75,000 because the preinterior stack would be too remote from the new boller bulkling and too small to handle the increased load.

Changes in the electric and boiler systems will make it possible for the buspital to pull transmission gas, oil and electric rates.

Clarence Kelley, director of the national police agency with an almost unsulled record for getting its man or woman; finds his mail filled with the invidious comparison.

There are a number of mechanical dwers to the question.

One person can remain out of sight much easier than two or more kidnappers can hold a prisoner unde-

Patty has only to change her dress and facial makeup in order to move about in comparative security from being detected by people, as distin-guished from intensively trained police officers, unskilled in recognizing basic physical attributes.

The kidnappers have to surface in one way or another if they are to make a profit on their crime. Close surveillance of the ransom payment led the FBI agents to Samuel Bronfman Il's enforced hideaway.

Bronfman's family gave its fullest cooperation to the G-men. It followed to the letter the instructions which people experienced in kidnapping

The suspicion has existed for a long time that it has been something else with Patty's family, particularly her mother; that its collaboration weakened when Patty's status of a suspected kidnap victim changed to a participant in ultra activist behavior.

The agency is running up against something of this same dissidence in Jimmy Holla's disappearance better than two weeks ago, not from his family but from a long list of former associates in the ex-Teamster president's public activities.

More importantly than those dis-tinctions in difficulties is Patty's refuge in a political underground which is totally anti-establishment.

Cracking that protection is not as simple today as it was when J. Edgar Hoover ran the Bureau. Wire tapping, opening mail at the postoffice infil-trating a suspect organization are just standard police procedures now in disfavor as infringement upon individual privacy.

This shield, now a part of the legal system, gives the advantage to Patty. and she is likely to remain a jump ahead of the law until she or her friends make a miscue, or as the lead unfolded in the Bronfman case, somebody gives a reliable tip to the authorities.

Responsible Critics Turn Guns On EPA

Has the EPA — the Environmental Protection Agency — grown a little too big for its breeches? Or is it that its breeches — its regulatory powers were made too extensive in the first

It has always, of course, been advisable to take both the claims of the environmentalists and the counterclaims of their antagonists with more than a few grains of salt, although most Americans would probably prefer to err, if err we must, on the side of caution when it comes to their health and well-being.

Lately, however, the EPA has been coming under increasing fire, and it is coming from Capitol Hill as well as the hustings, and from impartial scientists as well as spokesmen for the chemical and other industries that have been most affected by the agency's decisions...

An example of EPA's harmful imperiousness strikes close to home in the local fruit-growing area. A committee of the prestigious National Academy of Sciences recently concluded that "there is no convincing evidence that chemical pesticides can be replaced in the forecable future

"To the extent that regulation of agricultural chemicals is unnecessarily restrictive and sluggish in its administration, new research aimed at safer and more effective pest and disease control chemicals will be discouraged; and, over the long haul, the public will be the loser."

Already, it says, one effect of government regulation has been to put all but the larger companies in a situation where research costs are beyond their means.

The House Agricultural Committee has given the EPA three months to shape up its pesticide contol program. They are unreasonable and arbi-rary," one member was quoted as saying, "and this is the only way we can apparently bring them to look at what they are doing.

During one session of the committee, Rep. Floyd J. Fithian (D-Ind.), told an EPA official that "I am concerned, as an environmentalist and a conservationist, that in the process of overstripping the balance of the legislation which created your agency you may kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.... I am concerned as a conservationist about what you people are doing to the conservation movement in this country."

At the same time, there are reports of unrest in the lower ranks of the ncy itself — too much politics and too little attention to the interests of the public.

There have been suggestions that a separate agency be set up to review EPA actions. Whether or not the cause mtal protection requires other layer of government, whelever steps may be necessary should be taken to ensure that the wide authority granted such a vital apency as the EPA set be abused, misused, or

On virtually all A&P products grocery, dairy, and bakery—where freshness is essential to quality, we print a date in plain language. No codes.

This is what we call the PULL DATE: the last day on which the product may be sold as fresh. After that date, it is pulled from the shelf

But this does not mean that it's the last day you can use the product and still expect it to be fresh. We allow for a reasonable time to store and use the product at home. Milk: for example, if refrigerated, can be used for seven days from the time when you bought it.

SHORELINE PROBLEMS, TOO: Consumers Power Company's Palisades nuclear plant, Covert township, was shut down Monday. because of what the company described as "higher than normal" temperatures - discovered in one #of the control rod drive mechanisms that regulate activity in the nuclear core. Company said repairs probably will be completed by end of week. It was one of a series of shutdowns at the 700 million-kilowatt generating plant since it went into service commercial operations December, 1971. Plant also has another problem — shore line erosion and has applied to Army Corps of Engineers for permit to construct 1,400-foot-long rock breakwater to protect water lines running between plant cooling towers (top of photo). Lines are covered by thin layer of sand and are subject to exposure from erosion. Breakwater would be similar to seawall of boulders installed by State Highway department in St. Joseph. Any objections to breakwater must be filed with Corps of Engineers Detroit district office by 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22. (Aerial photo by Adolph Hann)

Van Buren Accepts $580,929 Contract For Court Annex

By DENNIS COGSWELL Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW - The Van Bucen county building authority agreed yesterday to accept a bid of $580,929 from Paul Barton and Associates. Kalamazoo, for construction of the new annex to the courthouse.

The bid, low among 12 submitted, includes a base price of $584,465, and an alternate of $16,464 io limestone the new building instead of bricking it so it will match the facade of the courthouse, which was built in 1902

We figured the annex would cost about 9000,000, and several of the bids came in just under that," said Ivan Stein, chairman of the building authority

The 18,800 square foot addition will be joined to the south entrance of the courthouse and will consist of two floors and a basement, each 5,000 square, feet. A "bridge" will connect the top floor to the jury rooms in the courthouse.

Basically, the addition is designed to alleviate crowding in the courthouse, particularly in district court where employed are now using rooms, such as a law library, for office space. Blueprints: submitted by Trend Associates Kalamazoo, have a law library, attorney's conference room, district judge's office, court reporter's room, court administration room, prosecutor's office and probation office planned left open by instructions of county commis-sioners, but will eventually probably be used for storage and for offices of departments now crowded into the basement of the courthouse

One of the best features of the annex is that all the initial work should be paid off when it is completed a year from now. County Treasurer A.A. (Eddie) Smith said the county expects to have enough money from revenue sharing accrued by that time. Finishing off th basement and top floor at some future date is expected to cost another $150,000 to $200,000

Construction, according to the bid submitted by Barton Associates, would begin within 10 days of the signing of a contract.

Following are the base bids submitted by each

Holland Construction, St. Joseph, $589,900 Whitaker Construction, Kalamazoo, $573,400 Miller Davis, company, Kalamazoo, $593,587 Hoffman, Construction, Kalamazoo, Pearson Construction, Benton Harbor, $596,400 Carlson Construction, Grand Rapids, $500,757 Johnson-Klein, Kalamazoo, $574,440; Highland Construction, Holland, $571,880, Henry Wis-trownki, South Haven, $823,000; VanderVeen Construction, Kalamazoo, $573,436, Paul Barton Associates, Kalamazoo, $564,465, and Tom Schuring, Kalamazoo, $756,000

This newspaper, Monday ran a U.S. Department of Agriculture report that the store's athorisation to participate in the food stamp program was suspended for 60 days, beginning

The USDA report identified the store owner as William Cochran; and said the store was disqualified for $6 days because of repeated sales of incligible items, such as tobacco-products, alcoholic beverages and other grads. In exchange for stamps. Biogram said he and his partner, Frank Brantham, South Haven, purchased the store as of April I and have operated it since that date. There have been no charges of food stamp protections in that three according to Bingham.

Bugham explained the alleged violation of USDA requirements accurred last winter, during a period that the prior owner, Wiltiam (Hartly) Cochran, was hospitalized.

It was the permit beased to Cochran that was suspended, and the disqualification does not apply to the store index the new ownership, which has its own authorization to participate in the feed store programs, the new ownership.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market declined broadly today, extending the slide that set in on Tuesday The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction and declines took a 3-1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said there was little in the economic news to relieve the market's worries over inflation, rising interest rates and uncertainty surrounding the no tential strength and durability of the hoped-for recovery from It also looked as though the market's retreat to a new 314month low Tuesday had con-vinced many investors that the declines of the past month had further to go.

Nothing Easy For Today's Leaders

By JOHN CLASSIT NEW YORK (AP) — Those in

positions of leadership today know there are no easy decisions, no clear-cut answers, no sharply defined routes to follow, no positive actions that do not spin off some negative

They wish those who aren't in positions of power would under-stand this. At least that seems to be the lament, the frustration, of public officials. They might not express it publicly. but they do so in private. Consider a few decisions and their ramifications:

-Soil more grain to the Soviet Union: It would further detente. It would help improve the U.S. trade balance and keep the U.S. dollar healthy. It would give U.S. farmers a good price for their labor and ingenuity

But, it might also raise domestic food prices. It might arouse domestic strife because the AFL-CIO is anery about the lot of common people in the viet Union and highly disturbed about U.S. food prices.

-Pursue an easy money It would speed recovery from the recession It would put people back to work. It might lower interest rates. It would help business finance its needs it would, for a while at least help the stock market it would help housing. But, it probably would cause an acceleration of prices, a return to the very inflation that caused so many problems. And, it is feared; such a move would trigger a new recession in a year or so —Lend federal money to New York City

It would help save financially distressed municipality. It would restore confidence in the municipal bond markets. It would give the city a chance to put its house in order.

But, it would also set a precedent — and there are fears that precedent would be followed widely it wouldn't solve New York's problems or those of any other city — just postpone them. It would be un-fair to taxpayers elsewhere.

Implies wage-price controls.

They would help stop what cems to be a rebuilding of inflationary fears. They would don't forget; it is uncertainty about the future that makes many wage demands and price increases so big.

But, they would violate our belief in free enterprise and er a permant ch in the American way of doing business. They might prove to be unenforceable. They might lead to black markets and chesting All these decisions refer to actions that might be taken by the federal government. But there are similar decisions that business is trying to deal with." If you were a banker you would seek all the business you could handle, consistent with your bank's goals. You would want to build your deposits and your investments, too.

Right now savings bankers can make home mortgage loans above 9 per cent in some areas, but they are reluctant to do so even at that high rate. Why? Bankers, no more than any others, know the future. They foar even higher rates.

It would do no good for them to make a 9 per cent loan today for 20 to 25 years only to find their money costs might top that sometime in the near future. It happened before; it could again.

Do you, the ordinary American, understand that? Some public officials and businessmen despair of being understood on such issues.

Of course, you say, what could be simpler? Why, anyone who has to live within the limits of a paycheck, almost everyone in-America, knows there are no casy decisions in these pertious. deceiving, shifting times. It

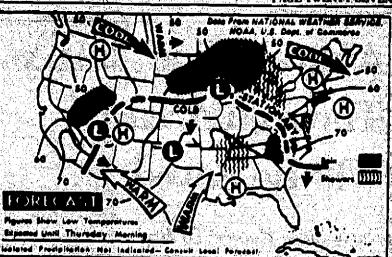

If only those in positions of power understood this.

The plan has been tubbed Conrail.

Final plans for abandonment of the Kalamazoo-Michigan City tracks, which service cities including Buchanan, Dowagiac and Niles, have been opposed by the cities. City and county officials have claimed the USRA has incorrectly judged service on the tracks to be operating in the red and have said the service is vital to commerce, in-

Pay Hike Prompts A Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prior to House and Senate action approving a pay raise for members of Congress Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., inserted this story in the Congressional Record early this month: "I am reminded of an old

Kentuckian who thought he was crossing into the great beyon-d...and motioned his wife to his "Mary," he whispered, you remember that old trunk in the basement? There is a quart of bourbon, fine old bourbon, in it: Go down and get it."

"He told her to fill a glass with finely crushed kee, to bruise some mint, and to stir it up in the glass with just a pinch of sugar. Then he told her to pour the bourbon liberally over the concaction and to decorate it with sprigs of mint, then to set it aside until frost formed on the outside of the glass. "And then, Mary, gasped the old man, his voice now all but extinct, bring it in here. No matter what I do or say, make me take it.

So many of us who have fought so valiantly, after this iniquitous bill is passed and the turnuit and the shouting dies, will say, 'No matter what I say or do, Mary make me take it." The pay bill would apply cost of living increases recommend-ed by the President to congressmen as well as ludges and other higher-paid federal employes. President Ford is expected to recommend a 5 per cent pay hike effective Oct. 1. LEGAL NOTICES
